INTRODUCTION

This document is a compendium (or inventory) of all historical records found to date that mention one or more individuals with the surname of Kidd in Henrico County, Virginia from the time of its founding in 1634 through 1860.

We began the ambitious task of producing these documents for over twenty Virginia counties with several objectives:

1. To find virtually every existing record mentioning the surname of Kidd in these Virginia counties prior to 1850;
2. To analyze these records and ascertain (if possible) whether the individuals are descendants of the Thomas Kidd who arrived in the Virginia colony by 1648, and if so, their line of descent; and
3. To distinguish between proven, documented relationships and those which are widely shared and held to be accurate, but for which proof is minimal or non-existent.

In the course of our research, we discovered one or more mentions of at least 30 individuals (17 males and 13 females) with the surname of Kidd in the records of Henrico County between 1734 and 1850.

Two of them – Elizabeth Kidd in 1734, and Robert Kidd in 1735 – appeared quite early in Henrico County, decades before other Kidds.

Many of the others have just one or two brief mentions, without enough context to place them in a family group, or to suggest a connection to another county. Nevertheless, they are all included here for completeness' sake.

The two Kidd individuals who left the most records in Henrico County prior to 1850 are Pitman Kidd (~1756, Essex County – 1808, Hanover County) and his wife and widow, Agnes Richardson Sharp Kidd. See their sections in this paper. This couple had no male heirs.

HENRICO COUNTY AND ITS RECORDS

Henrico County was the site of the second settlement in the colony of Virginia, established in 1634 as one of Virginia's original eight shires. Its original boundaries comprised an area from which ten Virginia counties were later formed in whole or in part, as well as the independent cities of Richmond, Charlottesville and Colonial Heights. The county was named for Henry, Prince of Wales, the eldest son of King James I of England.

Henrico County has not experienced major record losses. Land and probate records begin in 1677; marriage records are available from 1781 forward; and birth and death records begin in 1853. Census records for Henrico begin with the 1810 census.

SOME TIPS ON USING THIS DOCUMENT

Remember: This PDF document is completely searchable, using the Search feature in your PDF Viewer.

Names in RED FONT have been added to the Family Tree that we are constructing on Ancestry.com, that includes all the DOCUMENTED descendants of Thomas1 Kidd of Middlesex County, Virginia.

This tree can be found at: <https://www.ancestry.com/family-tree/tree/37652986/family>

You may have to copy this URL and paste it into your browser to reach this tree. Once there, be sure to look in the Media Gallery of these individuals, to see what documents and other sources have been added.

EXPLANATION OF THE GENERATIONAL NUMBERING SYSTEM WE USE

Before you get started, an explanation of the numbering system we have used in this document is in order: The number following an individual's name in this compilation indicates the number of generations relative to our common ancestor, Thomas1 Kidd. Thus, for example, "George4 (Benjamin3, William2, Thomas1)" is short-hand for "George Kidd, 4 generations down from Thomas the immigrant, and the son of Benjamin3, grandson of William2, etc."

Again, the numbers used in this system refer to the generation of each named individual, relative to Thomas1 Kidd, the patriarch of our Kidd family.

Our Kidd ancestors favored several English given names, and repeated them in each generation; George, James John, William and Benjamin were used in nearly every generation, in multiple branches of a family. In order to separate these individuals with shared names but in the same location and generation, we have arbitrarily listed them as James5a, James5b, etc.

AND NOW, TO THE KIDDS OF HENRICO COUNTY, VIRGINIA!

ADALINE KIDD DORSEY

1831 – Henrico County Marriage Bond dated 20 August 1831. John Dorsey to Adaline Kidd, who gives her own consent. James Waite attested to John Dorsey's age. James Kidd, surety, attested to Adeline's age and residence.¹

ADELAIDE KIDD THOMPSON, daughter of Benjamin F. Kidd who died in 1854
Born abt 1848, likely in King & Queen County²
Married Robert T. Thompson in Henrico County VA on 24 May 1864
Died 9 October 1882 in Mathews County VA

1850 – We are unable to find her and her family on the federal census in either King and Queen County or in Henrico County.

1855 - On 5 February 1855, Benjamin F. Kidd's widow Eliza Kidd filed a bill of complaint in the Henrico County Court, asking for partition of the land of her deceased husband. Her bill states that Benjamin F. Kidd died intestate in August last, seized and possessed of a tract of land in the lower part of Henrico County on the road leading from Richmond to Boar Swamp (elsewhere in these papers it lists the land on the stage road leading from Richmond to Williamsburg). At Benjamin's death, he left a widow, Eliza Kidd, who has qualified as administrator, and one child, Adelaide Kidd, by a former marriage, who is under the age of 21. He left a sufficiency of personal estate to pay all his debts. His widow is suing for her dower in the said tract of land, and that the residue of the said tract be assigned to the infant daughter of Benjamin F. Kidd, and that a guardian be appointed to receive this land in her behalf.

The Court appointed one James Ellett as Adelaide's guardian ad litem, and appointed commissioners to partition the land accordingly.

This record includes a plat of the land.³

The cover of the packet states, "1873, July 8. No order having been entered for seven years, suit dismissed."

² Per her 1864 marriage record. See above.

³ Henrico County Chancery Case 1873-068.

- 1864 – Adelaide Kidd married Robert T. Thompson in Henrico County on 12 May 1864. The marriage record states she was born in King & Queen County and lists her age as 16. It names her father as Benj. Kidd.⁴
- 1870 – I am unable to find her and her family on the 1870 federal census.
- 1880 – Adelaide, her husband Robert T. Thompson and their eight children are on the 1880 federal census in Piankatank, Mathews County, Virginia. On this census, she's listed as 30 years of age and cannot read or write.⁵
- 1882 – “Adalaid” Thompson died in Mathews County, Virginia on 9 October 1882 of “typhus fever.” Her death record lists her age as 32 and names her father as Benjamin F. Kidd. The informant was her husband, Robert T. Thompson.⁶

AGNES (RICHARDSON) SHARP KIDD, the widow of Pitman Kidd of Henrico and Hanover Counties, VA
Born between 1771-1775⁷
Married (1) Richard Sharp of Henrico County⁸, and (2) Pitman Kidd in 1797 in Henrico County
Died in the latter part of 1830 or early 1831⁹
She and Pitman Kidd had no children; Agnes had two daughters by her first husband, and Pitman had two daughters (named in his will): Mary Crenshaw Kidd and Sarah Bohannon Kidd, by his first wife Mary Austin.

Note – Because Agnes and Pitman lived and owned property and slaves in both Henrico and Hanover Counties, records from both counties appear in this compilation.

- 1797 – Henrico County Marriage Bond dated 29 Dec 1797. Pitman Kidd and Agness Sharp, widow of Richard Sharp. Sur. Robert Coleman. Wit. Susanna H. Bradley.¹⁰
- 1805 – There is a suit in Henrico County Chancery Court, wherein the administrator of Hales Sharp sues Pitman Kidd and others (Case 1805-007).¹¹ This is most likely related to his wife, Agnes Richardson Sharp Kidd, the widow of Richard Sharp, and rent due from her first husband's estate. This Chancery record has not been digitized, and reviewing it will require a visit to the Library of Virginia in Richmond. We have not seen this document but found the citation in VA Chancery Court records online at the library of Virginia).

1808 – Pitman Kidd died in Hanover County, Virginia before 25 May 1808, when his will was admitted to record in Hanover County Court. See his section in this compilation for full details, including a transcription of this will.

1809-1812 – Agnes Kidd appears on the Hanover County, VA PPTLs in these years (see Table below):

Year	Taxpayer	WMT	Slaves	H	C	COMMENTS
1809	Agnes Kidd	0	6	2	-	2 wheels
1810-1811	Not listed?
1812	Agnes Kidd	0	5	1		No indication of wheels

Not listed after 1812 on the Hanover County, VA PPTLs.

1812 – On 7 January 1812, Richard Randolph of Henrico County sold to Agnes Kidd of Hanover County for $910 a parcel of land in Henrico County on Four Mile Creek containing 136.5 acres, adjoining (among others) Peter Sharp's estate.¹² This record includes a plat of the land.

1812-1830 – Agness Kidd first appears on the Henrico County PPTLs in 1812, on the List for the Lower District of Henrico. She appears again in 1813 and 1814, as follows:

1812 – no WMT, 1 slave over 16, and 1 horse

1813 – no WMT, 6 slaves over 16, 1 over 12, 2 horses, and 2 wheels valued at $100.

1814 – no WMT, 5 slaves over 16, 1 over 12, and a carriage valued at $60.

She continues to be listed annually through 1830, then drops from the PPTLs.¹³

1815 – An Agness Kedd is found on the 1815 Henrico County Land Tax List. Her property was in New Market, 12 miles SE of the courthouse.¹⁴

1819 – In a Henrico County deed dated 5 September 1819, Ballard Ammons and Frances K. his wife of Henrico County sold to Agnes Kidd of the same county for $242 a parcel of land in Henrico County containing 22 acres and lying on Four Mile Creek, adjacent to Agnes Kidd's land. The deed was proved in County Court and admitted to record the following day.¹⁵

1820 – Agness Kid is the only Kidd household listed in Hanover County on the 1820 federal census (p. 583, line 5), but does not appear to be a resident, as her entry shows only slaves in the household:

Agness Kidd – no free whites, either male or female. Eleven slaves, 6 of them over 14 years of age.

She is found on the 1820 census in Henrico County, p. 105 (mis-indexed at Ancestry as having a male in her HH):

Agness Kidd – 1F<10, 1 10-16 & 1 45 or older; 7 slaves

1830 – On the federal census in Henrico County, VA, p. 308, third entry from bottom:

Agness Kidd 2F 5-9, 1 10-14, 2 15-19, 1 20-29 & 1 50-59. 25 slaves.

On May 3, 1830, Agnes Kidd, Ballard Ammons, and William Gay entered into a security bond agreement with James Lindsey. Agnes Kidd had been appointed administratrix of the estate of Thomas Acree, deceased on May 3, 1826, and Lindsey was one of her securities for this administration. He was seeking a bond of counter-security, which she provided.¹⁶

1831 – Agnes Kidd evidently died in 1831 in Henrico County, because she drops from the Henrico County PPTLs in this year; records of her estate account and inventory are found in 1831 and 1832.¹⁷

1832, ff. – Agnes Kidd drops from the records of both Hanover and Henrico Counties; we found no subsequent records for her in either county.

ANN KIDD

1811 – On 28 May 1811, a marriage bond was obtained in Henrico County for the marriage of John Hamilton to Anne Kidd. William Kidd, surety, attested to Ann's age and residence.¹⁸

We found no other records for this Ann and William Kidd, and are unable to place them in known Kidd families in this era.

1857 – John Boulware Kidd and Ann Roberta Tompkins were married on 29 July 1857 in Fairfax County, VA. An announcement of their marriage appeared in the Alexandria (Virginia) Gazette on Friday, 7 August 1857, stating that the marriage occurred at St. Paul’s Church on the 29th Ult.

The deed specified that this parcel is subject to the Deed of Trust cited above. This deed was admitted to record on 8 February 1861.¹⁹

Ann Roberta Tompkins Kidd died on 14 November 1870 in Richmond, Virginia. The cause of death was listed as “inflammation of the brain.” She is buried in the Shockoe Hill Cemetery in Richmond, along with her parents and her husband.²⁰

She had at least eight children by John B., three of whom died as infants.²¹

BENJAMIN KIDD

1839 – On 17 November 1839, a marriage bond was issued on 17 November 1839 in Henrico County, Virginia for the marriage of Edward K. Moss and Frances Dunn, with the consent of his mother, Elizabeth Moss, and her mother, Elizabeth Dunn. Benjamin Kidd and J. J.

BENJAMIN F. KIDD, the son of Benjamin and Nancy Kidd²³

Born about 1812²⁴

Married (2) Eliza (maiden name unknown); had a daughter by an earlier marriage (see below)

Died 11 August 1854 in Henrico County

- 1850 – A Benjamin F. Kidd is found on the 1850 federal census in St. Stephens Parish, K&Q County, page 156, HH 121, living alone:
Kidd, Benjamin F. 37MW Millright $500 real estate b. VA
(Next door are John M. Thurston, age 34 and his wife Elizabeth Jane, age 33, with their two children.)
By age and occupation, this is most likely the same Benjamin Kidd to whom the following records belong.
- 1853 – On 26 March 1853, Achilles Eacho and Lucy Ann his wife of Henrico County sold to Benjamin F. Kidd of the same place for $1500 a parcel of land in the lower end of Henrico County containing 54 acres adjoining George M. Savage, Jones Allen dec'd, and others.²⁵
- 1854, ff. – Benjamin F. Kidd died on 11 August 1854 in the Lower District of Henrico County.²⁶
This record states that he died aged 42 years of consumption (pulmonary tuberculosis), that he was born in King & Queen County, the son of Benj. and Nancy Kidd, and the husband of Eliza Kidd; she was the informant for this record, & was listed as the household head in this record as well.
His occupation was listed as millwright.
He died intestate, leaving records about his property and estate sale.²⁷
- 1855 – On 5 February 1855, Benjamin F. Kidd's widow Eliza Kidd filed a bill of complaint in the Henrico County Court, asking for partition of the land of her deceased husband. Her bill states that Benjamin F. Kidd died intestate in August last, seized and possessed of a tract of land in the lower part of Henrico County on the road leading from Richmond to Boar Swamp (elsewhere in these papers it lists the land on the stage road leading from Richmond to Williamsburg). This record includes a plat of the land.²⁸

The cover of the packet states, "1873, July 8. No order having been entered for seven years, suit dismissed."

CHRISTOPHER KIDD

1823 – On 31 January 1823, Christopher Kid married Ann Dumax, daughter of Andrew Dumax, in Henrico County, VA.²⁹

ELIZA KIDDs

We found several records for one or more individuals by this name. We believe that the earliest record likely belongs to a different Eliza Kidd than the other records listed here.

ELIZA KIDD on the 1840 census

1840 – On the federal census in Richmond (ward 2), Henrico County, VA, p. 168, line 22:

Eliza Kidd 1M 30-39; 1F 20-29. 2 slaves. For some reason, perhaps because her husband was disabled or an invalid, she's listed as the household head, despite his presence in their household.

ELIZA (maiden name unknown) KIDD, the second wife of Benjamin F. Kidd

Birth date and place unknown

Married Benjamin F. Kidd after 1849³⁰

1854, ff. – Eliza Kidd's husband, Benjamin F. Kidd, died on 11 August 1854.³¹ She was the informant for this record, which lists her as the household head.

1855 – On 5 February 1855, Benjamin F. Kidd's widow Eliza Kidd filed a bill of complaint in the Henrico County Court, asking for partition of the land of her deceased husband. Her bill states that Benjamin F. Kidd died intestate in August last, seized and possessed of a tract of land in the lower part of Henrico County on the road leading from Richmond to Boar Swamp (elsewhere in these papers it lists the land on the stage road leading from Richmond to Williamsburg). At Benjamin's death, he left a widow, Eliza Kidd, who has qualified as administrator, and one child, Adelaide, by a former marriage, who is under the age of 21. He left a sufficiency of personal estate to pay all his debts. His widow is suing for her dower in the said tract of land, and that the residue of the said tract be assigned to the infant daughter of Benjamin F. Kidd, and that a guardian be appointed to receive this land in her behalf. The Court appointed one James Ellett her guardian ad litem, and appointed commissioners to partition the land accordingly.

This record includes a plat of the land.³²

²⁹ Virginia Marriage Bonds. Richmond City, vol 1, by Ann Walker Reddy &, Andrew Lewis Riffe, Staunton, VA, p. 32.

³⁰ The 1855 Henrico County Chancery Court record informs us that Adelaide Kidd was the daughter of Benjamin F. Kidd by an earlier marriage. This Adelaide Kidd was born about 1849, judging from her marriage record and subsequent census and death records. Thus Eliza must have married Benjamin F. Kidd after 1849; she cannot be the Eliza Kidd on the 1840 federal census in Henrico County.

³² Henrico County Chancery Case 1873-068. Scanned images available upon request.

It is not clear why this case was entered into record in 1873, since no entries in this file were dated after 1855. The cover of the packet just states, "1873, July 8. No order having been entered for seven years, this suit dismissed."

These two records are the only ones we have for Eliza, 2nd wife of Benjamin F. Kidd. We found no other records for her.

ELIZABETH KIDD

1734 – On 14 January 1734, an Elizabeth Kidd was one of the witnesses to a deed in Henrico County, when Francis Rice of Henrico County sold to John Nash of same place for £20.15 a parcel or land on south side of Swift Creek containing 137 acres, “where the said Rice now lives,” bounded by Moses Ferguson, John Gressel, Thomas Nash and John Nash, it being part of a tract of 275 acres granted said Rice (138 acres were conveyed to said Grissel). Sarah, wife of Francis, relinquished her dower right. This deed was recorded 6 Oct 1735.³³
Wit.: John Green, Signed: Francis (Fr) Rice
William (W) Norris,
Elizabeth (E) Kidd

We found no other records mentioning her, and do not know who she was. The only other record we found in Henrico County in this era was one for Robert Kidd, in 1735. This raises the possibility that this Elizabeth Kidd was the wife of Robert Kidd, but this is only conjecture.

ELLEN GERTRUDE (TOMPKINS) KIDD, second wife of John Boulware Kidd

Born abt 1846³⁴ to Edmond William Tompkins & his wife Julia Mosby Burton³⁵
Married John B. Kidd on 4 April 1872,³⁶ likely in Richmond, VA
Died 4 February 1932 in Richmond, VA

1850 – On the federal census in Richmond City, VA, in the household of her parents, page 386, HH 722/830:

Tompkins, Edmonds 46WM Merchant b. VA

³³ Henrico County, Virginia Deeds and Wills, 1725-1737, p. 504, retrieved from FHL #7645095, image 445 of 548 via familysearch.org (unrestricted access)

³⁴ No Bible record or other contemporaneous record of her birth has been discovered. Public documents including census returns, her marriage and death records, her passport, and newspaper feature articles give ages indicating different years of birth, ranging from 1845-1860. Her parents' reporting to the census enumerator in December 1850 of a daughter Ellen age four indicates that she was born probably about 1846.

³⁵ https://www.lva.virginia.gov/public/dvb/bio.php?b=Kidd_Ellen_Gertrude_Tompkins

³⁶ To our knowledge, no record of this marriage has been found, and the actual year of their marriage is in some doubt. Their 1900 federal census entry states that they had been married 26 years at the time of that census (which would indicate they married in 1873 or 1874. John Boulware Kidd died on 14 October 1910 in Richmond at the age of 74. He was buried in the Shockoe Hill Cemetery in Richmond, in the Tompkins family plot, along with both his wives, and their parents, Edmond W. and Julia Tompkins.⁴⁰

A subsequent brief news notice appeared in the Richmond Times-Dispatch on Oct. 22, 1910, stating that his wife, Ellen G. Kidd, qualified as the executor of John B. Kidd's estate, valued at $18,000, and that all his property was bequeathed in fee simple to his widow.

1932 – Ellen Gertrude Tompkins Kidd died 3 February 1932 in Richmond. Her obituaries (several), published one and two days later, gives some information about her parents, and her children.⁴¹ Her obituary on Feb. 4 made the front page of the Richmond Times-Dispatch. A half-page article on her and the pickle business she started appears in the Richmond Times-Dispatch on Sunday, Oct. 11, 1925. Its title was "Pickles Help Put Richmond on Business Map – How Old Colonial Recipe Brought Fame and Fortune To Virginian Woman Is Romance of Business World."

She had 10 children by John B. Kidd, with 5 dying at birth or in childhood.

After her death, her estate was valued at over $400,000, less $150,000 in debts. Her surviving children (Leon M. Kidd, Hugh T. Kidd, Louise K. Meanley and Caroline K. Foote) sued the receivers of her estate, American Bank and Trust, and won an injunction against them in 1933.

Many of her papers and letters were donated to the Library of Virginia, where they can be reviewed in the Manuscripts and Archives Room. One of them is the will of John B. Kidd's grandfather, John Kidd of K&Q County.

Ellen Gertrude Tompkins Kidd was a remarkable woman for the time, not only a successful businesswoman but also active in the Suffragette movement and a noted Richmond philanthropist.

Kidd of the city of Richmond for the sum of $5200 a tract of land in the County of Henrico lying about three miles below the City of Richmond, , containing 205³/₄ acres. This deed was proved in Court on the same date and admitted to record.⁵⁶

Later family records (including John Boulware Kidd's obituary) show a middle initial, M., which some believe may have been Motley. RK suspects that this may have been added later, to distinguish the various John Kidds; we are awaiting further evidence before adding it to our records.

On 1 November 1860, John B. Kidd and Roberta his wife of the County of Henrico sold to Alexander Haneman of the same place a part of the tract mentioned above. This deed does not state the number of acres involved. Moreover, the sales price is obscured on the inner margin of the page; it seems to be only ten dollars, but the word is cut off. The deed specified that this parcel is subject to the Deed of Trust cited above. This deed was admitted to record on 8 February 1861.⁵⁸

1863 – On 18 December 1863, Robert B. Syne and Samuel P. Mitchell provided a Deed of Release, stating that John B. Kidd had completed the payments in the 1858 Deed of Trust (above), and giving him clear title to that land.⁵⁹

1865 – On 19 September 1865, John B. Kidd and Ann R. his wife of Henrico County sold to Benjamin F. Dickenson the above tract of land, lying three miles below Richmond containing 205³/₄ acres, and called Idlewild.⁶⁰

John B. Kidd died on 14 October 1910 in Richmond at the age of 75 years. His obituary and funeral notice appeared in the Richmond Times-Dispatch on Sunday, Oct. 16, 1910, p. 2.⁶⁴ His obituary reads:

JOHN BOULWARE KIDD

Funeral services Will Take Place This Afternoon in Shockoe Hill Cemetery

John Boulware Kidd died at his residence, 706 East Leigh Street, Friday night in the seventy-fifth year of his age. He had not been in good health lately, but his death was unexpected. He was a man of wide acquaintance, having lived in Richmond nearly all his life, and was known for his conscientious spirit and his deeds of charity and kind words.

He was the son of John M. and Catherine Kidd, of King and Queen County, and nephew of William Boulware, United States Minister to Naples under President Tyler, and grandson of Colonel William S. Miller, a distinguished officer in the Revolutionary War. He was highly educated, and enjoyed the acquaintance of educators of distinction. He was a student of Richmond College and of Columbia University, and was sought as an authority in Greek, Latin and other classics.

Mr. Kidd was twice married. His last wife was Miss Ellen Tompkins, who survives him. He is also survived by eight children: Mrs. Burton Loomis⁶⁵, Walter Kidd, D.S. Kidd of New York; Mrs. E. Henry Meanley, of this City; Mrs. T.J. Foote, of Wilson, N.C.; and A.B., D.F. and H.T. Kidd.

A subsequent brief news notice appeared in the Richmond Times-Dispatch on Oct. 22, 1910, stating that his wife, Ellen G. Kidd, qualified as the executor of his estate, valued at $18,000, and that all his property is bequeathed in fee simple to his widow.

His widow, Ellen Gertrude Tompkins Kidd, died 3 February 1932 in Richmond. Her obituaries (several), published one and two days later, gives some information about her parents, and her children.⁶⁶ Her obit on Feb. 4 made the front page of the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

A half-page article on her and the pickle business she started appears in the Richmond Times-Dispatch on Sunday, Oct. 11, 1925. Its title was "Pickles Help Put Richmond on Business Map – How Old Colonial Recipe Brought Fame and Fortune To Virginian Woman Is Romance of Business World."

After her death, her estate was valued at over $400,000, less $150,000 in debts. Her surviving children (Leon M. Kidd, Hugh T. Kidd, Louise K. Meanley and Caroline K. Foote) sued the receivers of her estate, American Bank and Trust, and won an injunction against them in 1933.

Many of her papers, letters, etc. were donated to the Library of Virginia, where they can be reviewed in the Manuscripts and Archives Room. One of them is the will of John B. Kidd's grandfather, John Kidd of K&Q County.

⁶⁵ There is a woman named Burton K. Loomis on the federal census in NYC on the 1910 federal census. She's the wife of Ernest Loomis, an author and publisher. This entry lists her DOB as May 1863, and the birthplaces of her and both parents as Virginia. I believe that this is indeed John B.'s daughter, and that she's the Julia B. Kidd, actually born about 1858, judging from the 1860 census.

Bowman and Thomas Childer(y), each ordered to post $50 bond each. The nature of the breach of peace was not given.⁸⁹ This Mourning Kidd most likely is the widow of James Kidd of Slate River in Buckingham County.

PITMAN KIDD, eldest son of Isaac Kidd of Essex County Virginia.

Pitman⁵ (Isaac⁴, Daniel³, Thomas², Thomas¹) Kidd

Married (second) Agnes Richardson Sharp widow of Richard Sharp of Henrico County; he had no children by his second wife Agnes

No surviving male children.

Note – Because Agnes and Pitman lived and owned property and slaves in both Henrico and Hanover Counties, records from both counties appear in this compilation.

1778 – On 16 March 1778, in Essex County, VA, the final division of Isaac Kidd’s estate was filed by Henry Kidd, administrator. It named Isaac’s “three children Pitman, Benjamin, and Isaac.” To Pitman Kidd, “the eldest son,” “all the Negroes” Dick, Suckey, and children Michael and Mol, valued at 150 lbs. Pitman to pay to “Henry Kidd, guardian of the younger sons Benjamin and Isaac,” £50 each for slaves, being their “apportionable part” of the value of the slaves “together with interest from 1 Jan 1771.” Division of the estate, after reimbursements to guardian Henry Kidd, was allocated among the three sons of Isaac Kidd: Pitman Kidd, named as the “elder brother,” Benjamin Kidd, named as the “second son,”

1782, 1786-1789 – In each of these years, Pitman Kidd appears on the Essex County Land Tax Lists, but not the PPTLs. In each, he's taxed on 128 acres in Essex County.

1783-1807 – Pitman Kidd appears on the annual PPTLs for Hanover County.⁹¹ RK personally reviewed these PPTLs on microfilm from the Family History Library, and found minor discrepancies from the printed transcript; he went with the original records in these instances in the Table below. Pitman was found in St. Paul's Parish, evidently in the eastern part of the county.

1784 – On 1 May 1784, Pitmon Kidd, living in the “lower part of Hanover,” placed an ad in the Virginia Gazette and Weekly Advertiser, published in Richmond, seeking the return of a runaway slave named Humphrey:

“Twenty Dollars Reward. RUN away from the subscriber on the 8th of March last, a negro man named Humphrey, 26 years of age, about 6 feet high, strong made, and very likely; he is fond of playing on the banjo. He was born and bred up in Essex county, and is supposed to be now lurking in that county, Caroline or Amelia, in both which he has relations; he is very artful and sensible, and unless great care is taken he will make his escape when apprehended; he has been much indulged and never whipped, as may be seen by his back. Whoever will bring him to me in the lower part of Hanover, near the New Bridges, shall be paid the above reward. PITMON KIDD.”⁹²

Pitman and Isaac Kidd were two of the Hanover County signers of a legislative petition dated November 16, 1784, asking that the act entitled "An Act Authorizing the Manumission of Slaves" be repealed and that no free negroes or mulattoes be permitted to pass as free men unless they produce proof of their right to freedom. The said proof must be in the hand of the Hanover Clerk of Court. Signatures include:

- 1805 – There is a suit in Henrico County Chancery Court, wherein the administrator of Hales Sharp sued Pitman Kidd and others (Case 1805-007). This is most likely related to his wife, Agnes Richardson Sharp Kidd, the widow of Richard Sharp, and rent due from her first husband's estate. - 1808 – Pitman Kidd wrote and signed his will in Hanover County on 3 November 1806; it was admitted to court on 25 May 1808. In this will, he left considerable property, which was divided between his wife and his two daughters. He left no male heirs. The Kidd family cemetery is thought to be on the property once owned by Pitman Kidd.¹⁰⁴ No headstones are left, but according to family stories, Pitman and his first wife, Mary Austin Kidd are buried there, as is his daughter, Sarah Bohannon Kidd (born 1785) and her husband, Hugh Watt, born Sept. 12, 1774 (this date from a family bible, according to this reference).

¹⁰⁴ Family Graveyards in Hanover County, Virginia, by Helen Kay Yates & W.E. Winfrey, 1995, Volume 1, p. 102, reviewed by RK at the Fiske Genealogical Library in Seattle, 3/8/2012.

- 1815 – His estate is listed in the 1815 Directory of Virginia Landowners, evidently as two parcels. The abstract reads, "Kidd, Pitman (estate) Hanover Town, 8E, 20SE."¹⁰⁵
In this year, his widow Agnes is in New Market, Henrico County, just south of Hanover County.
- 1830 – John Jones, one of the executors of the will of Pitman Kidd, filed a motion in Chancery Court in Hanover County, VA, requesting that the lands of Pitman Kidd be surveyed for division among his heirs.¹⁰⁶ Thus John Jones was alive at this time.
Both John Jones and his wife, Mary C. Kidd were dead by 1834, when this suit began in earnest. In this suit, John Jones is triggering the process of dividing Pitman's estate between his two daughters. Below is an abstract of this segment of the suit, on pages dated either August 25, 1830, or October 5, 1830:

Pitman Kidd owned two tracts of land, one on Chickahominy Swamp called "the Mansion tract," where the said Kidd died, containing 719 acres, exclusive of one-quarter acre square around the burying ground, rather the graveyard of said deceased, to be hereafter laid out. The other tract a few miles below the first, containing 218 acres with a griss (sic) mill upon it now in operation.

On the first mentioned tract are two dwelling houses, situated about $\frac{3}{4}$ mile from each other. This tract can be divided in half, with a line between the two houses, so as to give each half an equal share of high land and swamp land in quality. The east and lower half of this tract has on it Mr. Kidd's family grave yard, and the house in which he lived and died (designated Lot 1). The other half on which Mr. Hugh Watt (and his wife Sarah B. Kidd Watt) resides is called Lot 2.

The other tract ... the commissioners cut off (carved out) 40 (later revised to 41) acres, containing the mill, located in the east and lower part of the tract. They called this Lot 1, and deemed it equal in worth to the other 171 acres of this tract, which was the upper or western part of this tract. They termed Lot 2, which included a dwelling house.

To decide which daughter got which parcels, the commissioners created two shares, one containing the eastern/lower part of each tract (lot 1s), and the other containing the western or upper part of each tract (lot 2). They determined to draw lots from a hat (really), and Mrs. Watt being the oldest, drew first, and drew #2. Thus she got the old family home and graveyard, and the larger lower parcel but not the mill.

Mary C. and John Jones received the other half of the upper parcel (including, evidently, the house that Sarah and Hugh Watt HAD been living in) and the grist mill.

Unfortunately, while the land is described in some detail, and surveys and plats are described in the records, no plat is included in the record itself.

¹⁰⁶ Hanover County Chancery Court case, 1845-015, Ezekiel Talley, guardian vs. Thomas K. Jones, et al. Viewable on-line at the Library of Virginia's Chancery Courts Records site (pages 45-46). The pages of this suit are not in chronological order on-line, making it very difficult to determine the proper sequence of events. The main information captured here was the division of Pitman's estate, and the names of Mary C. Jones's eight surviving children. Others may glean more information from a careful examination of this record.

1833-1845 – A Hanover County suit (Hanover Chancery Court Case 1845-015¹⁰⁷) involving the lands bequeathed to Pitman's daughter, Mary C. Kidd Jones, began in 1833, after the deaths of Mary C. and her husband, John Jones. On 24 Dec 1833,¹⁰⁸ Ezekiel Talley, the husband of Mildred P. Jones (whom we believe was the eldest child of John and Mary C. Jones) and the guardian of the youngest three children of John and Mary C. Jones (Thomas K., James E. and Henrietta Jones, still minors at this time, under the age of 21) is suing to distribute the land and property that Mary C. received from her father, according to the terms of Pitman Kidd's will. This will (a copy of which is within the court papers) specified that upon the death of his daughters, the property was to be equally divided among their children "in fee." Mary C. Kidd and her husband, John Jones had received 359 acres of land in one body (tract), and a mill with 41 acres in the other, for her and her children. Both Mary and John "have departed this life, leaving eight children, viz. the above-named wards of your orator; Mildred P., the wife of your orator; Mary, the wife of John S. Atkinson, William A., John A., and Callom B. Jones...and that it is impossible to divide the land without almost total destruction of the value of the several parts." He requests permission to sell the land, rather than dividing it in 8 parts. In the end, it appears that the court approved the sale of the tract containing the mill (recorded in court on 10 Nov 1834, and the proceeds were divided among the 8 heirs. The same record seems to say that at the same time, a sale of "nearly 360 acres" of the other tract of land "on the swamp and known by the name of Kidds, with improvements" was purchased by William A. Jones for $3000. The proceeds were paid out to the children (or placed in the bank for the minor children).

Several events occurred during the drawn-out process, which didn't conclude until 1845. James E. Jones, one of the minor children, reached the age of 21 by Oct. 11, 1839. Henrietta Jones, another minor in 1834, had married William Gibson by 1845 (and perhaps earlier). And John A. Jones had died by Oct. 4, 1837; his share went to his brother Callom B. Jones. In addition, a Travis Bagby¹⁰⁹ of Hanover County purchased William A. Jones' share of this bequest in February 1837 for $1402.41.
